Daytona 200 Restart Results Clarification

For the finish of a race, or the classification of the “suspended” results after a red flag, the number of laps completed is based on riders last crossing of the finish line before the red flag. Meaning regardless of the amount of time elapsed between the crossing of the finish line and the red flag the crossing counts as a completed lap. The time of the red flag is based on timing data and is final.
